Dear Lincoln Alumni,

I am now nearly two years into my time as Head of College at Lincoln. I am very proud to say that during this time Lincoln College has returned to growth, and will continue to grow well into the future. The first half 2019 has been extremely successful for Lincoln, with an increase in students staying at college, and increased engagement from Alumni visiting and contributing back to the Lincoln community.

None of this would be possible without the hard work from the College Board, who continue to guide and build Lincoln into a living-learning centre of excellence. I would also like to acknowledge this year's Academic Tutors, Residential Advisors and College Club, who all work tirelessly to bring the vibrancy and depth to the community that makes it such a wonderful place to live and learn. Also, a note of thanks to the dedicated Alumni, who are always dropping by to share stories and mentor current residents.

It is because of the strong support, co-operation and trust from all these individuals that we are now seeing Lincoln College, with its rich heritage, gain strength and grow in today's competitive environment. I genuinely look forward to providing the stewardship this college needs, allowing Lincoln to stay true to its roots and provide a lighthouse model for how colleges can benefit society.

It is my belief that as contemporary society becomes more disconnected, colleges will play an ever-increasing role in developing supportive communities, which value and foster human connection and development. This is something that Lincoln College has always done exceptionally well since 1952, and this is why it holds such a special place in all our hearts.

Let me close with the hope that 2019 will continue to be a milestone in Lincoln's long history, I'm confident that our journey has just begun!

Thank you once again, warm regards.

Dr Paul Tosch B.Sc (Hons) PhD MAICD
Head of College and CEO

Our Head of College, Dr Paul Tosch, and Dean, Dr Jordan Bell, were pleased to attend the graduation ceremony for 25 young people completing the Karnkanthi Indigenous Education program for Yr 12 students in November. It was a great opportunity to show our support for Wirtu Yarlur Aboriginal Education and The University of Adelaide. It was also lovely to re-connect with Lincoln alumna Mai-Sie Crawford-Owers who works at Wirtu Yarlur now.

EXPANDING HORIZONS BEYOND LINCOLN

Community at the heart of Lincoln

This is my twelfth year as Dean at Lincoln, and in the time I've been here I've seen many different ways that our community defines itself as a very caring College. Being part of an active living-learning community like Lincoln automatically gives you access to a whole range of charitable opportunities and activities that you might not otherwise have taken part in:

- Residents have raised money for charity by shaving their heads, hosting afternoon tea, attending Girls and Boys Night In, being sponsored to ride/swim/walk, or just live on $2 a day for a week
- Residents have attended tree-planting days, blood donation drives, charity car washes, refugee centre cleaning events, or meal-packing sessions with Freedom From Hunger
- Student leaders take part in Physical First Aid, Fire Safety, and Mental Health First Aid training, so they have the skills to step up and help out in a crisis
- Residents take the lead to coordinate social and sporting activities from 5 people to 500 people

It's always really clear to me that our residents are motivated by a sense of care for those around them, and it's fantastic to see.

This deep sense of care is also evident in the way that our alumni give back to the College. From sharing their time with us and building connections with the residents through networking panels and mentoring, to sharing their resources through donations and gifts to the College, it's clear that our alumni hold a deep sense of gratitude to Lincoln. One of my favourite parts of this job is taking alumni on tours of Lincoln as it is today, and hearing their stories about what's changed. They invariably comment that Lincoln still has the same "feeling" about it.

This "feeling", of course, is "community". It is built up by the little events that come together as traditions, whether for one year or ten: Disney Club, Hot Chocolate Nights at the Firepit, Running Club, Stag Week, corridor dinners, Knitting Club, Yoga lessons, Art Club, and of course, large group sessions for whatever the latest "must watch TV show" is. And the "big night" events, with a lot of planning and effort put in by the student leadership teams in the lead-up to a fantastic evening: International Night, Music Night, Lincoln Ball, Open Show, Valedictory Dinner. These activities, large and small, build the fabric of our community with simplicity, regularity and dependability. They let our residents build strong bonds with those living around them, bonds of friendship they can rely on when things get tough.

Having the privilege to observe residents building these kinds of networks, year after year, in real time, has been one of the things I've loved most in my time at Lincoln. We'd love to hear your happiest memories of your time at Lincoln – please feel free to share a story and/or a photo by sending it in to admin@lincoln.edu.au, and we'll share a selection of memories on the Lincoln Facebook page over the rest of the year.

THINKERS IN RESIDENCE

Professional Networking sessions -

Networking panels are events convened by Lincoln's Academic Tutors, supporting students to meet a diverse panel of speakers from their industry. A typical panel hosts 4-5 speakers, each presenting a 15 minute summary of their professional career.

A recent evolution of Lincoln's networking panel facilitates collaboration between the Careers Counsellors at The University of Adelaide and Lincoln College. Staff from the Adelaide Uni Careers Hub assist Lincoln's Academic Tutors to find enthusiastic and successful early-career speakers through their Alumni program. Adelaide University students were also invited to attend the panel sessions as a result. Collaboration with the Hub began early in 2018, and the panels that used this approach became a college favourite throughout the year. We hope to build similar relationships with the UniSA Careers Service in 2019.

The advantage of bringing speakers to the Lincoln community exists for both the panellists and residents alike. Such networking events offer panellists time to reflect on their achievements and distil their career journey into moments of sage advice for students. Students gain the benefit of experience and begin their networking experiences.

After speeches have concluded, all attendees enjoy supper and drinks in the Whitehead building. This offers students an opportunity to ask more detailed questions of the panellists. Students are often quite fond of entrepreneurial panellists, as they offer bespoke advice on navigating an economy that is growing ever in favour of highly skilled problem solvers.

If you are an alumnus of Lincoln and would be interested in coming back to Lincoln to speak to residents studying in your field, or you have an interesting speaker to recommend, please contact the Dean, Dr Jordan Bell, on jordan.bell@lincoln.edu.au as we are always keen to find new speakers for our networking evenings.

COLLEGE CLUB NEWS

President's summary of 2018

2018 was a huge year for Lincoln College, and equally for College Club. Right out of the gate it quickly became clear that this was going to be a year of change. We welcomed a new College Head and several friendly new staff, as well as a large and energetic group of new residents.

O'Week was as jam-packed as ever, with barely moment to take stock before it was all finished. We greeted our new residents the traditional way, with a barnyard dance, a scavenger hunt, a quiz night, a glow party and much more. As usual, things didn't slow once they had begun. We were lucky enough to have really strong involvement from our Old Cols, who turned up in large numbers when we invited them. Then we had the cult classics; Lincoln Open Show, Lincoln Ball, Lincoln Exec Dinner. These were all big successes, and great opportunities for residents to make new memories that they can hold on to for life. To top off the year, we had our annual Valedictory Dinner, which was a great opportunity to farewell those leaving the College and look back on such a positive year.

One of the big highlights for me was seeing residents showcase what positive college culture looks like, and this is reflected by what we've seen already in 2019. We have the largest group of returning residents Lincoln has had for a while, and an enormous amount of enthusiasm by residents who want to help guide this community, all of which is making me very optimistic for the year to come.

None of these outcomes happen without the massive amount of work that goes on behind the scenes, so I would like to thank the support of the College Club, and in particular the tireless effort of the Vice President in 2018, Bradley Slape. I would also like to thank the residents for giving me the opportunity to return to the position of President in 2019, something I am very excited for.

I am certain that there are big things in store for Lincoln this year!

COLLEGE CLUB NEWS

At Lincoln, there are some great social events that are always popular on the calendar. O'week, International Night, Music Night, the Lincoln Ball and Valedictory Dinner are just some of the highlights.

Images:

1. A place where gamers join together to play online multiplayer games. Again, it was Lincoln's very own annual LAN party, which had our resident gamers set up gaming till dawn! A good way to destress before SWOTVAC and exams indeed
2. Solid effort made by our SAAUCC table tennis team, managing to nab second place for Lincoln!
3. We went out with a great effort at our last SAAUCC sport of the year, SAAUCC Athletics. We'll be back better and stronger for sure in 2019!
4. Lincolnites came to rock out to some sweet tunes at Battle of The Bands and give their support as always. Lincoln's residents were in awe of the Lincoln Band's performance at Battle of the Bands;
5. Thanks everyone who came to support the annual charity car wash event organised by The Club Exec!
6. September is the traditional time for Music Night - in 2018, we had 13 performers including singers, dancers, percussion, duets and trios, solo instrumentalists and the Lincoln Band.
7. Lights, Camera, Action! No paparazzi, please! This one-of-a-kind Red Carpet theme was an amazing night. The Head of College and Dean are seen all dressed up with a red carpet running in the center.
8. What an amazing turnout at the annual Lincoln Ball! Thank you to our club members for your hard work in planning such a lovely night!

A TRIBUTE TO
GREGOR ALLEN RAMSEY AM
1936 - 2018

Gregor Ramsey was Chair of the Lincoln Board from 2010 to 2015. He remained a great friend to Lincoln after his retirement.

Through his Ramsey Report and his personal efforts, Gregor Ramsey was to redesign the entire tertiary college and teacher education sector in Australia.

HIS INSPIRATIONS WERE MANY, BUT ONE PARTICULARLY RELEVANT TO THIS NEWSPAPER WAS HIS SECTION IN THE SUN-ADVERTISER YOUTH TRAVEL SCHOLARSHIP TO THE UK. GREGOR WAS IN HIS LEAVING (YEAR 11) YEAR AT THE TIME.

The 17-year old sailed for the UK on what proved to be a life-changing experience, introducing a country boy to the many cultures of the world.

He had been born in Gawler to Allen and Elston and moved with his brothers Ian and Garrey as Allen's teaching career took the family to one-teacher country schools.

Gregor took a science degree and a diploma in education and began teaching in high schools including Gawler, Clare Valley and Woodville. By 1962 he was teaching maths and science at Darwin High, married to Naomi Martin and with three children.

He won a scholarship and headed with his family for Ohio State University in the US to complete a PhD in curriculum development.

Two years of American life and education brought a whole new set of influences into Gregor's life. They lived on campus and met people from around the world, making friends that lasted a lifetime.

HE STRONGLY BELIEVED GOOD TEACHING HAD A HUGE IMPACT ON THE LIVES OF CHILDREN.

Back in Australia in 1967 Gregor worked for ACER, developing a national approach to teaching science.

In 1972 he became head of Western Teachers College at Wattle Park in Adelaide. There, he began merger talks with similar institutions and over the next 10 years the mergers of colleges led to the formation of a single South Australian College of Advanced Education.

Greg was installed as principal. It would later transform into the University of South Australia.

Liz Wauchope worked alongside Gregor at the CAEs and their office romance, despite its many obstacles and difficulties, led to a permanent partnership for the rest of Gregor's life.

They moved to Canberra in 1984 for Gregor to become the Commissioner of Advanced Education, later chair of the National Board of Employment, Education and Training in 1989.

Gregor next moved to Sydney to run TAFE in NSW. He built on his SA experiences by transforming the administration-heavy TAFE system with 120 colleges in NSW to just 11 institutes.

From 1995 he and Liz turned to private educational consulting, and their international work with many countries – including Russia and China – led to him becoming head of UNESCO's committee on vocational education.

In 2000, his Ramsey Report for the NSW Government was entitled Quality Matters, his lifelong mantra for education. He strongly believed good teaching had a huge impact on the lives of children and that teachers should be judged on competence rather than seniority, putting him at odds with the status quo.

Gregor moved on to pursue his interest in equity and Indigenous education, establishing the Desert Peoples Centre in Alice Springs. They returned to Adelaide in 2003 and settled in Grange to be at the heart of his blended two families, partners, children and grandchildren.

He also took on many community roles, from president of the Friends of the SA School of Art to chair of Lincoln College council. His campaign to reform teaching and education led to him creating and then leading the Australian Institute for Teaching and School Leadership.

He was made a Member of the Order of Australia (AM) in 2007. He was also made a Doctor of UniSA, the university he helped to create. He consulted for indigenous education until his unexpected and sudden death following an operation.

Though times have changed and the campus has certainly changed, the spirit of Lincoln still lives on, and their friends are just as they remember them.

Celebrating Togetherness – Reunion Dinner 1973-82

A reunion dinner for the Lincoln cohort from 1973-1982 was held in October. It was an intimate gathering, held in the Whitehead front rooms, with an amazing display of memorabilia and photographs provided by attendees and curated by staff member Emily Fox. Speaker Rick Burge reminisced about old times at College “Most conversation is about what we’ve been up to since uni, the people we’ve become, the families we’ve formed, the jobs we’ve held, the chapters of our lives written and revised. Revisiting the Lincoln College was something that I really wanted to do. It was interesting, in that things were different but the memories were there.” Attendees enjoyed a return to College grounds, some for the first time since graduating! All attendees were presented with an engraved wineglass commemorating their time at Lincoln.

The next reunion dinner will be for the cohort from 1983-1992, to be held at Lincoln College this year on September 21.

An invitation will be coming out soon, so watch your emails, and update your contact details with us at lincoln.edu.au/update-your-details/ to make sure you receive your invitation.

MY JOURNEY AT LINCOLN

Who is someone you might never have met if you didn't come to Lincoln?

One of my best friends is a guy I went to college with named Simon Vaughan. I met him in O'Week of my first year of college and we immediately became great friends. He grew up in Alice Springs and I grew up in inner-Melbourne. We're from very different worlds and experiences but we shared a lot of similar interests and passions for all things nerd culture, be it video games, movies or Warhammer 40K memes. It wasn't common to come across such a genuine, salt-of-the-earth type of character that Simon is at the kind of school that I went to or the circles I was running in back in Melbourne in my youth. My friendship with Simon has had a profound effect on my outlook on life and where my personal goals and values really sit, in a very positive way. I was lucky enough to be asked to be the MC at his wedding a year ago and although I have since moved back to Melbourne, I still regularly play video games online with Simon and his wife Tina (who I'm also great friends with). I am very thankful for my experiences at Lincoln that have provided me with lifelong friends such as Simon!

What is a memory from your time at Lincoln that you'll never forget?

I will never forget the first time I participated in the Battle of the Bands competition in my first year of college in 2011. I had previously only performed in classical music settings, making this new performance in front of some 300 drunk, sweaty and screaming peers an amazing, adrenaline-fuelled experience. I came down with the flu on the day of the performance and in a moment of poorly-considered self-medication, took a combination of flu meds, energy drinks and many shots of tequila. The fact that I was able to function on stage during our performance after ingesting all of that is still a mystery to me. Adrenaline is an amazing thing, I suppose. We came 2nd that year but I came back again in 2012 where we managed to win, which was an incredible feeling! It's stuff like Battle of the Bands that make the college experience so unique and provide the kinds of experiences that really challenge people to go outside their comfort zone in a really awesome way!

LINCOLN COLLEGE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Growing Together!

In March 2018 Dr Paul Tosch (CEO and Head of Lincoln College), and Roland Roccioletti (Chair of the Board), visited Singapore and Malaysia to connect with local alumni. Ngee Meng Quek graciously hosted an event in Kuala Lumpur for Lincolnites. It was fascinating to hear the life stories of Lincoln's scholars from the 1980s and 90's. Happy memories of Dr Scott, engineering history, business progress, and all the fun that was to be had at Lincoln College throughout their time in Australia, were the main themes of the night. Paul also gave an update on the most recent recipients of the Dr Scott Memorial Scholarship, dedicated to new residents from Malaysia or Singapore. This scholarship was funded by our Malaysian and Singaporean alumni in honour of Dr Scott's strong connection with the region. We would love to be able to extend the benefits of this scholarship to more new residents from the region every year, through the further generosity of Alumni.

We were also thrilled to be joined by the Sunway University Deputy Vice Chancellor

Professor Pua Eng Chong, who discussed potential opportunities for Sunway students into South Australia.

It was such a wonderful night connecting with the heritage and culture of our far flung alumni. International students have always been part of Lincoln's life since the very earliest years, when the College provided a home for Columbo Plan students enrolled at the University of Adelaide. Then, and since, these graduates have found significant places in leadership in their respective countries, and we are so proud of the amazing achievements of our Malaysian and Singaporean students.

We are coming back to Singapore and Malaysia this October and we're hosting another round of alumni gatherings. The Singaporean gathering will be on Thursday Oct 3rd, and the Malaysian gathering will be in Kuala Lumpur on Friday October 4th. Contact admin@lincoln.edu.au to register your interest in attending and we will be in touch with more details regarding these events in August.

ALUMNI NEWS, DROP-INS AND UPDATES

Images:

1. A huge gathering of #Lincolnites and their partners were present to see Jess Alderslade and Angus Randall wed in November. Jess and Angus were at Lincoln in 2010-2012, along with many of their friends;
2. Josiah and Oscar Saunders, both Lincoln College Alumni Association (2010-2015 & 2008-2010), popped in for a surprise visit! Josiah is teaching ESL to primary school students in Japan, and Oscar is teaching ESL in Vietnam;
3. Dr Linda (Melinda) Cheung (2000-2002, International Rep 2001, President 2002) came in over the Christmas break to drop off a commemorative banner signed by most of the residents of College in 2001 at International Night;
4. Alumnus King Swee Yeo (1996-2000) visited Lincoln with his wife Daphne Lim while they were in Australia for his niece's graduation. They had a tour of the College and then joined previous Principal Dr Peter Gunn and his wife Margaret, for a meal in the evening;
5. Alumna Kay Khine Myo Min (2011-2012) was awarded a University of South Australia Vice Chancellor and President's scholarship in recognition of her excellent PhD research into pancreatic cancer tumour blood vessel development.
6. How fantastic do the Marni Wingku t-shirts look! Designed by Lincoln alumna and our inaugural Indigenous Advisor Mai-Sie for Wirlutu Yarlur Aboriginal Education. Great work Mai-Sie!
7. Thanks everyone who came to the Annual New Alumni BBQ on March 2018! It was definitely good seeing familiar faces and also for current residents to catch up with the alumni
8. Lincoln Alumna, Ms Kendra Kotz, was named a Churchill Fellow for 2018. Kendra currently works as a psychologist in Port Lincoln, with the Department for Education, where she supports students with disability and additional needs.

PROFESIONAL MENTORING PROGRAM

Mentoring Program for senior residents

In 2018 we started the Lincoln Links mentoring program for residents in their third year or above at Lincoln. It's been a fantastic success. We recognise how competitive the job market has become for graduates and we wanted to focus on giving Lincoln residents an edge over other applicants. Participants were matched with a professional mentor in their industry, who supported them with information to guide them into a successful transition to the workforce.

As the coordinator of the program I was so thrilled and grateful at the generous spirit with which mentors, both alumni and non-alumni, stepped forward to mentor our senior residents. The maturity and engagement demonstrated by our residents in interacting with their mentors was also impressive. Mentors worked with residents using a 3-2-1 structure – three coffees, two reviews of application/CV and a mock job interview, and one professional introduction to keep their networking going. This program saw nine senior residents connect with mentors from seven different industries to get themselves ready to work this year.

Images:

[Centre] Lincoln student leaders learn about Teamwork with True North Leadership [Top Right]; Lincoln's Senior Academic & Dentistry tutor, Shanaya S., hosted a networking panel for Dentistry students. Lincoln Alumni Dr Dave Power, Dr Bing Yap and Dr Jishnu Sreedaran attended to speak with current residents about succeeding in their studies and future career paths.

The Lincoln Links program was really valuable to me while I completed my last year of university. I was partnered with a mentor who was relevant to my career aspirations, and was able to meet with her numerous times over the course of four months. The entire process was really easy and I was comfortable to practice interview skills, receive feedback on my CV and hear advice from my mentor because the program was set up with students in mind. I recommend Lincoln Links to anyone who wants start their professional networking in Adelaide. – Meredith Dowling

Lincoln Links has helped me decide what post graduate degree I want to pursue, and has given me an insight into the different types of work environments available after I graduate. Having a contact in the field really opens up internship and possibly even career opportunities, and offers you an understanding of the field that you don't gain at uni. – Samantha Godakumbura

We are running Lincoln Links again in 2019 – if you are interested in being involved as a mentor, please contact The Dean, Dr Jordan Bell, with details at jordan.bell@lincoln.edu.au.

SNAPSHOTS OF LAST YEAR

Lincoln College has always been the portal to fun, friendship, networking, and opportunities. Together we represent all kinds of activities, and joining one is the best way to make the most out of it.

Images:

1. A group of Lincolnites helped out at Zambreros Meal Packing Day to feed children in the Philippines. An outstanding number of nearly 62,000 meals were packed!
2. Some of our residents taking a break from pre-SWOTVAC studies by cosying up to a bonfire with homemade hot chocolate & s'mores in the backyard of Whitehead;
3. Lincoln Residents got together on Wednesday night in their academic cohorts for some team-building in the Common Room. Using everyday items, the teams were challenged to build towers, bridges, paper-planes and more, in a competition against each other;
4. Several of our residents have gone out of their way to support a variety of charities including blood donations, raising thousands of dollars for those in need.
5. We thought the last day of uni holidays called for an adventure! Huge shout out to Waitpinga Farm Quad Bike Adventures for being such awesome tour guides – we'll be back!
6. Open Day! Lincoln welcomed lots of prospective residents and their families to learn about life at Lincoln.
7. To celebrate International Women's Day, we looked at the stories of some of the worlds most inspiring women. Then we made cards for the inspiring woman in our own lives to thank them for all that they have done for us;
8. That's a wrap. A big day of filming at Lincoln for upcoming year with all the enthusiastic residents. Thanks to the residents for being so helpful.

THANK YOU FOR BEING WITH LINCOLN

A Big Thank You!

Each year Lincoln celebrates the donors, volunteers and residents who have contributed to the culture and events that make Lincoln the amazing place it is. The Dean paid tribute to those who volunteer their time and expertise to the college at the recent Thank You Drinks event.

In particular, Jordan highlighted the invaluable contribution of the Lincoln College Board and the College Club to the life of the college.

Have your details changed?

Letting us have your up-to-date contact details means that we can keep you informed about the latest news from Life at Lincoln and of course invite you to special College events.

If you've moved, changed your name or got a new email address then let us know.

You can update your details online at lincoln.edu.au/alumni/update/

Donations

We are constantly looking to improve the facilities and lives of our residents and your support helps us to do this. Your donation will be valued no matter how large or small.

To donate online, please visit lincoln.edu.au/donations

Online Store!

After several alumni called out for customised branded Lincoln College wear, we launched an online store and produced a clothing range that was designed and selected with help from our students. This official Lincoln clothing is comfortable and good quality, designed specifically to reflect what the Lincoln stands for. To order and customise your t-shirts, hoodies, vests, jackets and other merchandise visit here.

Annual Appeal

Your annual gift of any size supports Lincoln to continue to flourish as a "place like home" for so many students into future years. There are many ways you can provide this valuable support, through; donations, pledges and gifts, a bequest in your will, your time and experience as a mentor or committee member – we welcome and value all your support.

This year our Annual Appeal is entirely focussed on improving access to college through Scholarships and Bursaries. Please consider Lincoln as tax-time rolls around.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR CONTINUED SUPPORT AND CARE,
WE CAN'T DO IT WITHOUT YOU.

2018

Open Days

August 16-18, 2019 | Lincoln College

We understand that not everyone has the opportunity to visit the College in August on Open Days, so we are hosting a series of road trips to meet with prospective residents and parents. If you know someone who is interested to learn about what Lincoln has to offer, why not ask them to come along to one of these events. They will have the opportunity to meet with Dr Paul Tosch, the Head of College/CEO.

Also, if you're heading to the any of these events, we'd love to see you too. Make sure you pop in to our stand, say hi to Paul and let us know what you're up to.

We look forward to meeting you at one of these venues!
